READING LIST (CONTINUED)

David Jimenez lives and works in Paris, where he is celebrated for his chic, French-influenced interiors. In his book, Parisian by Design: Interiors by David Jimenez, the designer offers ideas and inspiration to help readers create their own French-inspired spaces with a focus on comfort and style. He also includes a how-to section with tips for decorating, including how to layer with textures and colors and how to arrange art, books, and other collections. In addition, a source section lists the designer's favorite flea markets, antiques dealers, and art galleries for finding French décor in both Paris and New York.

Parisian by Design: Interiors by David Jimenez

At the Artisan's Table

by Jane Schulak and David Stark (Vendome,
November 2022), $65

If you're looking to wow your dinner guests, this is the book for you. Designers and event producers Jane Schulak and David Stark take a unique approach to table settings by pairing historical table wares from the world's finest design museums with pieces by international contemporary artisans who reinterpret traditional crafts and styles, such as chinoiserie, faux bois, blue-and-white Delft, and trompe l'oeil. Featured artisans include plaster artist Stephen Antonson, ceramicist Roberto Lugo, and quilter Loretta Pettway Bennett. Readers are treated to page after page of stunning tablescapes designed by Schulak and Stark that incorporate the artists' handmade wares.
